

Please retain Morse testing for Amateur Radio.
Due to its simplicity, it stands mighty tall when all else fails. A simple flashlight can send a life-saving message when the user knows Morse Code. Amateur Radio should be ready, for whatever calamity. The public respects Amateur Radio...and our high standards. To end Morse testing would be to end a measurement of skill and committment to the Amateur Radio service. Thank you.